

These Dreams

(Khemosabi x Feranakas Star)

Dreams came to me as an unbroke 5 yr. old. He'd spent the first four years of his life as an ungelded colt who never got out of his stall-hardly the ideal candidate for an endurance horse. The price was right though, he was free to a good home, and he had the biggest, most melty eyes. I couldn't say no.

Most of his first year of training I spent flying off over his head- he was terrified of everything and REALLY quick. We hung in there though, starting with competitive rides and working our way up to 50 milers. He hauled me down the trail for 1500 miles, including two 100 milers and two AWESOME trips to Colorado, before arthritis took him out of competition. He's still my trail buddy and babysitter though, and those huge melty eyes will be looking over one of my stall doors for the rest of his life!
